NEWSLINK TOUCHES DOWN AT TOWNSVILLE AIRPORT

Townsville Airport will extend a tropical welcome to retail outlet, NewsLink, when it officially opens its door to the public tomorrow morning.

NewsLink is operated by one of the Asia-Pacific region's leading travel retailers, HDS Retail Asia Pacific (HDS).

General Manager of Townsville Airport, Chris McHugh said NewsLink was a valuable addition to the terminal facilities and the local community.

"NewsLink provides a range of reading material, gifts and other items for people on the move," Mr McHugh said.

Mr McHugh said the store was located past the security barrier within the terminal providing a bright and appealing offering.

HDS CEO Scott Raisin said the Townsville Airport NewsLink was the 12th store to open in Queensland and brought the national network of outlets to a total of 45.

"Tomorrow's opening will mark the start of a significant partnership, with not only the airport, but with the extended community who utilise these facilities when travelling for business or leisure.

"As a customer-focused organisation we share the same ethos as Townsville Airport and together we are committed to providing the highest quality of service to the travelling public."
